technology is the foreplay in the sublimated sex of progress the oohs and ahs of consumer feedback we just keep thrusting forward to hear satisfied lovers telling us 'keep going you are so on the right track' always building
never to slow
always peaking
never plateau

add-ons and cases in our need to be entertained toys brought into bedroom zone keeping it exciting, newly trained until we find out what the neighbors are doing on the next generation's phone always reaching
never plateau
always swooning never saying no

explorer and penetration finger this button, handle this task new features new colors new sound application erotica we share in secret on the private chat room of the world while imagination's busy going down never level ready to go
always meddle
never plateau

leave the tv on and pass the digital vapor cigarettes i have to smoke 4 at a time just waiting for what comes next then blow it up huge on screen picture in picture over-eager transistors the silicon plastic fuck puppets developing an idea that's immune mates made perpetually frustrated lovers because upgrades always come too soon
never plateau
